

Know Before You Go

About the Certifying Exam

The ABEM Certifying Exam is the final step to becoming ABEM Certified. The Certifying Exam will allow you to demonstrate the skills and methods learned in training and apply them to real-world clinical scenarios to determine if they meet the high standards required for the independent practice of Emergency Medicine. In this guide, you will find resources, travel information, and logistics to help you plan and prepare for your exam.

We look forward to seeing you in Raleigh for your ABEM Certifying Exam.

Travel Information

ABEM offers information and guidance on travel and logistics, but each physician is responsible for booking their own travel and lodging for their Certifying Exam.

EDIT STAY DETAILS

- Room blocks have limited availability and are not guaranteed.
- ABEM recommends that you stay at the Hyatt House, a nearby hotel, or make plans to ensure you arrive at the Hyatt House lobby in time for your exam registration.
- ABEM recommends you arrive in Raleigh no later than the day prior to your examination date.
- It may not be possible to adjust your examination schedule to accommodate travel delays. ABEM recommends giving yourself ample time to travel to Raleigh in advance of your scheduled exam time.

Resources

The exam is held in person at the AIME Center in Raleigh, North Carolina. During your half-day exam session, you will complete 10 cases. There are two case types covering 8 content areas that make up the Certifying Exam.
